How a Simple Summertime Dessert Saved the Year I'm always looking for a simple dessert recipe to surprise guests for holidays or special occasions and this recipe is a wonderful summertime treat. The key to the flavor is the use of fresh citrus, which leads to a great, bright, fresh tasting dessert. A quick look at the ingredients shows you the true simplicity of this recipe. The key ingredient is Fresh Lime juice and it is the key to this delicious, refreshing, summer dessert. Once I posted the recipe I heard from more than a dozen people with similar, "I want to try that!" experiences. How Simple Is It? In keeping with the theme of summer, here is a quick snapshot of the ingredient list: You don't need a special cookie mold. You can use a shallow glass dish with a matching rim. If you want to serve this dish in the glass dish, use a salad plate or a shallow glass dish with a matching rim. How Do You Make It? You can use a candy thermometer or an instant-read meat thermometer to check the temperature of the cooked icing. A few minutes prior to serving you can sprinkle some lime juice on the whipped cream so it stays creamy and fluffy. I'm not going to lie: This is a very simple dessert. It is designed to taste great in the moment, but it can be prepared as a special treat that can also be served in a regular glass dish. This is a great dessert for a special occasion or as a party favor. Here's the recipe, enjoy! Thank You! Thank you to everyone who shared your comments and experience with this recipe. It is wonderful to hear from people who love this and have made it into a family favorite. I hope this recipe meets your expectations and is a wonderful, special summer treat for your family.
